Qualifications

How many applicants were on the eligible list? After reviewing the register, how many possessed the extraordinary qualification(s) described below?:

There were 4 people on the eligible list. Two qualified in banded rank 1: F. Bradley-Wright and C. DeMoss. Due to the Council's need for experienced personnel with demonstrated expertise in utility regulation there will be 5 total new employees in this office, doubling the current staff. With 5 new Councilmembers taking office next month and several pending dockets on which they will need to act, it is imperative that we select a candidate who has a familiarity with our active dockets. Given the Council's desire to implement best practices, it is important to have someone who has experience in multiple jurisdictions who can develop an implementation strategy and advocate for the Council's positions in interstate forums such as Midcontinent Independent System Operator and the Entergy Regional State Committee. Finally, the Council has prioritized increasing CURO's in-house expertise in an effort to minimize the reliance on external consultants. Only Mr. Bradley-Wright has sufficient experience to meet the needs of the Council and CURO.

Describe:

Describe how similar qualifications are not readily available in the labor market at the minimum rate:

Due to high bar of experience set with the minimum qualifications of this posting, it is clear that there are not many individuals available in the labor market. Mr. Bradley-Wright not only meets, but exceeds the minimum qualifications. As the term begins, the Council will need to develop policies geared toward improving grid resilience, adding renewable resources, and upgrading existing energy efficiency programs. Accordingly, the new Council needs a centrally accessible policy analyst with experience in a variety of energy policies across jurisdictions.

How are the duties of the position relevant to the advanced qualification?:

As touched upon earlier, this position will serve as a primary, non-partisan researcher for the Council, who will play a key role in developing policy and interacting with stakeholders. The candidate's advanced qualifications of more than 20 years working in this field working with governmental entities, the industry, and advocacy groups make him uniquely qualified and well-suited for this position.

Are there other departmental employees in this classification with the same or equivalent qualifications: Yes No
